RE: Web Accessibility Annual Self-Reviews

DATE: April 12, 2017

In support of MSU's commitment to digital accessibility and progressing the work of colleges/units under their web accessibility five-year plans, each college/unit is required to submit an annual self-review by June 30, 2017. The self-reviews will allow MSU to chart and assess our institutional progress and identify recommendations to support and advance our efforts.

Each Major Administrative Unit will report progress during the first year of their Five-Year Plans. The annual self-review will not only report progress to goals, but also provides an opportunity to note any changes in resource commitments, priorities, or approach over the course of the year. Units may also submit revisions to the five-year plan if plans have changed significantly over the course of the year. Finally, the annual self-review provides an opportunity to better understand the needs of units across the university and better support units in their work to remove barriers to accessing digital content.
